Lull in India Fighting, U.S. to Send Arms

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian forces laid down a barrage of mortar fire and launched probing attacks today as the Red Chinese drive showed signs of slowing down—at least temporarily. Battles appeared to be shaping up in the Himalayas as both sides poured in reinforcements. For the first time, the Defense Ministry told of Indian forces using mortars and holding their own against the Communists. The only setback reported today was loss of one small military outpost on the Tibetan border in the center of the North East Frontier Agency. With American and British weapons to be rushed here by air, a feeling of confidence swept the nation and shook it out of the despair created by a series of retreats since the Communists launched their offensive Oct. 20. Major battles appeared to be shaping up near the Buddhist monastery town of Towang and at Walong, 250 miles to the east near the Burma border.

strong Indian forces were being pushed to the 2½-mile-high Se La Pass to try to blunt a Chinese threat to the thickly populated Assam plains. Informal sources said the Indians recaptured Jang, four miles east of Chinese-held Towang, which put them in a better position for defense of Assam. Near the Burmese border, the Chinese were reported still on the outskirts of Walong.

On the Ladakh front, 1,000 miles to the west, the Indian government acknowledged the fall of the Demchok and nearby Jara Pass to the Chinese Saturday. A government spokesman said it was by and large untrue that Indian troops fighting in 3-mile altitude on the Ladakh front were inadequately clothed against winter. The government conceded that the troops there and elsewhere lack sufficient rapid-fire weapons to repel the Chinese attacks.

Responding quickly to an Indian plea for assistance, the United States is expected to start sending modern infantry weapons by the end of this week. New demands arose for the resignation of Defense Minister V.K. Krishna Menon, blamed by critics for the inadequacy of the military equipment with which the Indian army faced the first Chinese onslaughts in the 10-day border war.

A year ago, Menon blocked efforts by top generals to turn to the United States for weapons. Opposition to Menon is becoming so strong within the ruling Congress party that some observers think Prime Minister Nehru may have to fire his closest associate. So far, Nehru has pushed Menon into the background and taken over most of his duties.

In a speech Monday, Nehru said: "We had been conditioning ourselves not to think of war and all our operations had been directed to the development of our economy."

In contrast, he said, Red China prepared for war and has the world's largest army. Two plane loads of rapid-fire weapons have arrived from Britain as the beginning of a purchased order. Canada has also promised to provide military supplies. France has been asked, but its response has not been reported.

The British Commonwealth was sharply criticized by Rhodesian Premier Sir Roy Welensky for "not rushing to assist India to ward off the Chinese invasion."

TEMPO OF ACTIVITY — This aerial photograph of the San Cristobal area in Cuba, taken Oct. 23, 1962, shows the tempo of Soviet activity in the construction of an MRBM launch facility. Since Oct. 14, fuel tank trailers, a missile shelter tent and other equipment have been introduced into the area. Now the U.S. will be watching for the bases to be dismantled as Khrushchev agreed to do.

Two Killed in Train, Truck Collision

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Two persons died and more than 30 others were injured when a gravel truck rammed the center of a speeding train, spewing rocks and flames over screaming passengers in the coaches.

The impact broke the train in two. One car careened wildly into a trestle and a steel beam from the bridge railing speared into the coach.

Four cars of the seven-car San Diego, a Santa Fe train bound for San Diego, were derailed in the wreck Monday. The truck driver was burned to death. A train passenger was the other fatality.

Twenty-nine passengers were hospitalized, many with broken legs. Several others were treated at the scene and released, unidentified.

The passenger who died was a Navy recruit seated at the spot where the truck struck. When it hit seats toppled, passengers flew through the air and rocks the size of golf balls from the truck's load rained down on them.

"The front of the car just peeled right back like a piece of paper being rolled back and big hunks of gravel came flying in," a passenger, Army Pfc. Melvin West, 19, said afterward. "One guy started yelling, 'goodbye' to his buddies."

The train was traveling about 5 miles an hour when the accident occurred, C. R. Robertson, assistant general manager of Santa Fe, said.

Police identified the dead truck driver as Ed White, 43, of Anaheim.

The dead passenger, whose leg was severed in the crash, was Larry Joseph Davis 21, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He died in surgery at Orange County General Hospital.

"Two cars were pretty well mangled; it was a hell of a mess," said Eugene Miller, Orange County deputy coroner.

The accident occurred three miles from the famed Disneyland amusement park and 25 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

The train, from Los Angeles carried about 100 passengers, many of them servicemen.

Students Can Earn Holiday for Halloween

By VAN SAVELL

The Hope police Department is again cooperating with the high school student council and the high school officials in preventing property damage due to vandalism on Halloween night, according to Police Chief Jack Brown. For the past several years, the school authorities have given an extra holiday to high school students if there was no property damage during the Halloween celebration.

This year the students will be allowed a choice of three different days for the holiday if it earned by the conduct record of the students during Halloween.

This plan has worked well for the years it has been tried. The Police Chief says that the Police Department has been ready to meet out severe punishment of violations during this period because the vandalism is not only a violation of the law it is a violation of the confidence of the entire student body of the high school and could result in a penalty to all high school students by the loss of a holiday.

The Police Department will, again, this year be on the alert to prevent any damage that might result in a loss of the holiday for the high school students.

Kennedy and Lodge Seek Senate Seat

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of pre-election stories highlighting key contests in various states.

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
BOSTON (AP)—What the 1,200,000 independent voters in Massachusetts will do is the problem facing two young men fighting for the U.S. Senate seat which both their families cherish.

The combatants are Democrat Edward Moore Kennedy, youngest brother of President Kennedy, and Republican George Cabot Lodge.

President Kennedy occupied the seat before his election to the White House. Lodge's father and great-grandfather both spoke for Massachusetts in the Senate in years gone by.

The 1962 contestants bubble with confidence with just one week left before the Nov. 5 balloting. The scent of success long hanging over the Kennedy headquarters has drifted across the corner of the Boston Common to the Lodge camp.

They are shooting now for the support of the independent voters, who hold the decisive votes in Massachusetts contests.

There are 1.2 million unenrolled voters to the 921,000 Democrats and 668,000 on the Republican lists.

Most of the independents stayed out of the September primary in which Kennedy won the Democratic nomination by a smashing plurality of 371,900 in an 800,000 vote total in his contest with state Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr.

The Kennedy confidence stems from that big win, and from the Kennedy family's record in the U.S. Senate.

Students Toss Firecrackers at Ole Miss

By VAN SAVELL

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—University of Mississippi students bombarded the dormitory of James H. Meredith with firecrackers into the wee hours today. It was the most serious incident since the bloody rioting when the 29-year-old Negro enrolled four weeks ago.

The Army alerted an extra platoon of white-helmeted military police but did not use them.

"Student leaders, faculty members and Army officers attributed the explosive campus feeling to Mississippi's coming football game with Louisiana State.

No arrests were made, but the MPs chased students away from Baxter Hall, the ivy-coated dormitory where Meredith has a two-room apartment.

About 200 students peppered the walls of Baxter Hall with cherry bombs—small firecrackers which make a tremendous noise. Some were hurled by sling shots.

Student affairs Dean L. L. Love continually appealed to students to disperse and by 2 a.m. the campus was quiet.

"They're taking their feelings out about the football game on Meredith," said one student leader.

The university's football team—undefeated this season—goes to Baton Rouge Saturday night to play LSU. The intense rivalry between the schools, both perennial national football powers has made the contest a national classic in recent years.

Monday night's incidents started while Meredith was dining in the campus cafeteria. One cherry bomb was thrown into an MP jeep, scattering three soldiers.

A barrage of firecrackers continued and the soldiers and two federal marshals raced into the crowd with drawn night sticks. The students, jeering and yelling, retreated.

Steamer Hulk May Be Sold

MEMPHIS (AP)—The hulk of the decommissioned river steamer Mississippi will be sold to the highest bidder on an "as is, where is" basis, it was announced Monday.

Col. Edmund Kirby-Smith, the Memphis district engineer, said the formal invitation for bids will be issued Thursday, with the opening scheduled for Nov. 28.

The big old sternwheeler has been berthed at the Memphis waterfront since she was taken out of service in April, 1961, in favor of a diesel powered boat, which took over the name "Mississippi."

Final Rites for J. S. Hoover

Final Rites for J. S. Hoover, 77, who died Sunday in a local hospital, were held at 2 p. m. today at Herndon-Carnell Chapel by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells. Burial will be in Memory Gardens. Survivors include his wife, two sons and six daughters, including Mrs. Travis Slover of Alexandria, Va.

Local Man to Handle Girl Scout Money

"Mr. George Frazier, with the Roy Anderson Insurance Company, has been elected as Finance Chairman on Conifer Girl Scout Council's Board of Directors," announced Mrs. Truman Hobbs, president of this Girl Scout Council.

"Mr. Frazier, resident of Hope, has an exceptional interest in the success of this active community organization. We know he will be of vital service as we continue to provide events that inspire girls, from 7 to 17, with the highest ideals of patriotism, character, conduct and service."

Mr. Frazier will be working with leading citizens within Conifer Council's 15 county jurisdiction in southwest Arkansas and northwest Texas as this Board of Directors administers the Girl Scout Program. As Finance Chairman, he will guide the Council when it raises funds to provide to enlarge facilities for local Girl Scout camps and activities.

Special projects of Conifer Girl Scout Council during Mr. Frazier's two year term of office will be to enlarge facilities for local Girl Scout camps and activities, develop a more extended training program for adult Girl Scout leadership, extend membership to more girls with a greater number of special opportunities, and develop a higher sense of preparedness in Girl Scouts for local and national needs.

Woman Is Shot Accidentally

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Police said Monday a bullet struck Mrs. Myrtle Fischer, 36, of North Little Rock, in the back while she and her husband were inspecting a new home near Marche community on the Conway Pike.

Officers said Mrs. Fischer was critically injured and her husband hospitalized in shock. They said Mrs. Fischer's father-in-law, Raymond Fischer, told them the shots came from a nearby game reserve.

Blockade Suspended by U.S. During Talks to Remove Missiles

Thant Goes to Cuba to Set Up Plan

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant flies to Havana today to set up machinery for a U.N. check to make sure Premier Khrushchev keeps his pledge to remove Soviet missile bases from Cuban soil.

In preparation for his trip, Thant held another round of talks Monday with top diplomats of the United States, Soviet Union and Cuba.

The way for Thant's visit was smoothed by the White House announcement that at the secretary-general's request it would lift the U.S. naval blockade during his stay.

Thant released a letter he sent Khrushchev Sunday expressing belief the situation in the Caribbean area would be normalized when the missiles are pulled out and the bases dismantled.

Thant still faced the ticklish job of winning Prime Minister Fidel Castro's approval for the U.N. inspection procedure worked out in conjunction with U.S. and Soviet officials.

Informal sources said Thant got President Kennedy's permission to convey to Castro the President's pledge not to invade Cuba. The United Nations announced there had been a new exchange between Thant and Kennedy but declined to disclose the contents.

Thant is going at the invitation of Castro who a week ago loudly rejected the idea of any U.N. observers in Cuba. The Cuban leader apparently backed down after Khrushchev reversed the Soviet position on the missile bases.

Observers predicted that if Thant's mission is successful, the U.S. blockade would not be imposed again.

Accompanying Thant on his mission are Raul Primelles, deputy chief of Cuba's U.N. mission; Hernane Ravera de Sa of Brazil, Republic, a U.N. undersecretary for special political affairs, and undersecretary for public information.

Informal sources said Louth probably would remain in Cuba to get the inspection machinery in motion.

2-Day Grace Period, Planes Keep Watch

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States temporarily lifted its arms blockade of Cuba today, while U.N. officials prepared to undertake delicate Havana negotiations with Fidel Castro on dismantling Soviet missile bases in Cuba.

U.S. officials awaited analysis of new reconnaissance photos that may tell whether Soviet technicians have started pulling down those bases which almost brought on American military action.

The Navy's ships and planes suspended the six-day-old blockade for two days as dawn broke across the Tide area they are patrolling in the Atlantic around Communist Cuba.

The blockading force remained on station, ready to resume the quarantine if ordered to do so.

The White House announced the suspension Monday night and said it was being done at the request of U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant. The U.N. official heads for Havana for talks with Fidel Castro on proposed U.N. supervision of the missile removal agreed to by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

As a practical matter, the lifting of the quarantine for the time being means little. No Soviet ships were reported near the quarantine zone, and the Defense Department indicated that all those suspected of bearing offensive weapons to Cuba had already disappeared from the scene.

Informed government sources reported Monday night that U.S. destroyers and aircraft had detected and trailed more than two Soviet submarines for about two days last week in the quarantine area.

The Soviet craft were trailed until they surfaced and recharged their batteries, then went their way without incident, the sources said. The Soviet subs were traveling separately, informants indicated.

With a Soviet fleet of some 400 submarines roaming the world's seas, it is not unusual for American naval units to make contact with them, particularly in Atlantic waters off the U.S. East Coast. By all the signs, the U.S. action has been fully successful in checking off the flow of any more Soviet missiles, bombers or other offensive weapons into Castro's Cuba.

Democrats Plan Little Rock Rally

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Democratic Party announced today it already has sold 7,200 tickets and expects a crowd of 10,000 at a "victory dinner" in Barton Coliseum in Little Rock Friday night.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okl., will be principal speaker at the rally.

Pat McHaffy, Democratic national committeeman, said the interest in the rally should not be taken as an indication that the party is scared about results of the Nov. 6 election.

"The people of Arkansas have got too much sense to break up this team," McHaffy said at a news conference today.

Ted Morley, Democratic campaign chairman, said the sponsoring Young Democrats Club of Arkansas is trying to make the event a "real old-fashioned statewide Democratic rally."

Milas Hale, arrangements chairman, said he hoped voters would compare the Democratic rally with the "Halloween party the Republicans are having Wednesday night." Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., will address the GOP meeting, also scheduled in Barton Coliseum.

McHaffy said polls taken as late as Friday indicate the Democrats have nothing to fear in the election.

Rep. Oren Harris, the 4th District congressman, said the Democrats were simply trying to create enough interest to get out the vote.

"We are not worried," Harris said. "We have this year a unanimity among the Democratic candidates that we have never had before."

McHaffy said both Arkansas senators, the four congressional candidates, Gov. Orval E. Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Legislative Council reported Monday findings of inaccuracy of weight-measuring devices in the state did not include Little Rock and North Little Rock. reaction he has been getting from voters in his day and night campaigning.

The Lodge spokesmen say their private polls show Lodge rates ahead of Kennedy among the independents with the most recent poll showing Lodge ahead 43-40 per cent. Furthermore, a spokesman said, Lodge's percentage is solid for him, except for a 2 per cent of inclined voters. On the other hand, the spokesman said, Kennedy's 40 per cent strength among independents is almost evenly divided between committed and inclined voters.

An Associated Press poll of Massachusetts newspaper publishers, editors and political writers showed they believed Kennedy will win the Senate seat. Straw ballots to 49 newspapers brought 34 replies, all saying Kennedy appears the winner.

There's a third candidate in the field for senator this time, H. Stuart Hughes, a Harvard history professor.

The Cuban crisis may affect Hughes' chance of gaining a significant vote. He has advocated cessation of American nuclear testing, withdrawal of American striking forces from foreign bases and abandonment of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Both Kennedy and Lodge expressed whole-hearted support for the President's quarantine of Cuba.

Kennedy and Lodge are making their first tries for elective public office.

Lodge is 35. Kennedy reached the minimum age for a senator last Feb. 22 when he turned 30. Hughes is 4.

Girls Lure Man to Car, Rob Him

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Three young women were arrested Monday and charged with robbing at gunpoint, men they lured into their rented car.

Typist Jean Burks, 23, was arrested as she returned the rented car to an agency.

Babysitter Ellen Marshall, 23, and Delores Jackson, 30, of Berkeley were arrested later.

Police said the women admitted taking $34 from one man and $150 from another who accepted their invitation for a ride. A third man wrestled the revolver away from one of the women and escaped.

Indifference of Worshipers Is Studied

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Prelates at the Roman Catholic Vatican Ecumenical Council discussed today of keeping worshipers from becoming "indifferent and mute spectators" at Mass.

The council fathers—cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops from around the world—examined questions pertaining to the Eucharist as they continued their review of a proposed constitution on liturgy—public worship.

A spokesman said there were 23 speakers at a three-hour closed session in St. Peter's. The spokesman said many of the council fathers expressed the view that worshipers should be given "greater knowledge of all parts of the Mass and more intimate participation in the Mass."

The Roman Catholic Mass is said in Latin but worshipers may follow the Mass with a missal containing a translation of the Latin into the national language.

Today's session was attended by 2,237 prelates—the smallest number yet. Nearly 200 council fathers have temporarily left Rome to attend to diocesan affairs. Bernard Jan Cardinal Alfrink, archbishop of Utrecht, Holland, presided at the meeting.

The spokesman said speakers showed "deep interest" in projecting non-Western culture into some aspects of the liturgy in an effort to adapt to local mentalities and traditions.

Along these lines, speakers again discussed the use of vernacular, or modern, languages in place of Latin in parts of the Mass, especially the teaching parts.

Some speakers expressed a need for a broader choice of scriptural texts in the Mass.

The spokesman said some council fathers, discussing the Eucharist, spoke about "communion under two species"—bread and wine, instead of bread alone, the present form.

A Vatican source reported, meanwhile, the council would recess from Dec. 8 until after Easter. The council had been generally expected to adjourn about Dec. 10 until about Jan. 10. It opened Oct. 11.

Dec. 8 is the Feast Day of the Immaculate Conception. Easter falls on April 14.

The Letter That Came Too Late!

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: When I was 17 I met a West Point cadet. It was moonlight and roses. We became engaged on my 18th birthday. Three weeks later the second world war broke and he went overseas.

We wrote each other every day. Then his letters stopped. Frankly I searched the casualty lists. No mention of him or his regiment. In desperation I employed my father to query the War Department. Beyond ascertaining that he still lived, we learned nothing.

My mother said, "be realistic, dear. Maybe your soldier has met another girl." I started dating other boys — one of whom she thought God's gift to any girl. He had family, looks and money. That combination, plus a pleading mother, was hard to resist.

The morning of my wedding, I got a call from the Army Base hospital near our home. A GI who'd been wounded escaping from a German prison camp had a letter for me from my soldier. I knew that it was he and not my soon-to-be husband whom I loved but, I could not bring myself to hurt my family or the nice boy to whom I was pledged so I did not read the letter until after the return from my honeymoon. It tore my heart anew. My soldier had been wounded and taken prisoner months before. Only thought of eventually being reunited with me had kept him alive. He said it now looked as if that day would not be far distant!

We met seven years later, by chance, on the street and both cried like babies.

I've not seen him since but I can't forget. Songs, places and things associated with him still bring tears to my eyes. Nobody knows the misery and heartache I've suffered. I'm fond of my husband — he's a wonderful father and man, but I don't love him. Did I do wrong by not telling even at the 11th hour, how I really felt? — One Who Can't Forget

Dear One: You made your decision by putting the letter aside until after you were married. There should never be any turning back in life. In view of the circumstances you may have made the right decision. To reverse it now would only make your family, your soldier and yourself miserable. Your first duty is to your husband and children. Steel yourself to close the door on memories of what might have been. Prove you have backbone by standing on your original decision. You'll be the stronger for it.

Dear Helen: Is it possible to sell your eyes? If so, I would like the blind to have mine when I die. Do you think this is a good idea? How could I arrange the matter? — Judy

Dear Judy: It is against the law for a person to sell his or her eyes. However, if you sincerely wish to help somebody with impaired sight you may will your eyes to the Eye Bank near your eye. Check at your local hospital.

Dear Helen: I have a complex. My whole family hate me. Not being pretty. If so, I would like about my looks. This makes life more unbearable. My parents think my young sister a little angel. Actually, she is despicable. She is 14, I am going on 16, get good grades at school and can do almost anything I put my mind to. My folks say I'm a poor loser at cards. That's because they all meke me so nervous. After a game with them last night I prayed I would die. Secretly, I long to kill myself but lack the courage. Is there any hope for me? — Unhappy

Dear Unhappy: Tennyson said, "Man is master of his fate." Your thinking needs some pretty drastic revision. Prove that you can do almost anything you put your mind to by believing your parents love, not hate, you. While your sister may be prettier physically, you have your attractive side, too. Ask your school counselor to help you emphasize it. The best cure for self-consciousness is unselfishness. Be outgoing. Show your concern for others. Develop a sense of humor. Learn to laugh at yourself. Only the humorless and self-centered talk of suicide. Snap up of this black mood. Life, even at its worst, is wonderful!

Dear Helen From a happy-go-lucky, good-natured girl who believed in everybody, I'm turning into a nerve-wracked misanthrope. My husband's parents won't let us draw a free breath. Ever since our marriage two years ago they've been butting into our lives; lavishing money on us with one hand, snatching it away with the other.

My mother-in-law is a perfectionist, my father-in-law a know-it-all. She sits in judgment on my housekeeping, saying, in her tight-lipped way, "You're not looking after your home as you should," if so much as a pin is out of place. And this on a day when I've worked my fingers to the bone, washing, scrubbing and cleaning. The very same night my father-in-law will barge in half-tipsy and make snide remarks before our friends about his slipshod daughter-in-law.

For my husband's sake I bite my tongue and say nothing, though I seethe inside. As of now I've danced to the tunes they've called — even meekly acceding to move from city to rural community.

True, they sugar-coated it with a car, bedroom suite, living room rug, new stove and first month's rent, figuring those gifts gave them the right to run us.

I became pregnant and my husband and I were thrilled but not his folks. Because of my father-in-law's temper, I, being the extremely nervous type, lost that baby. When I got pregnant again, I second time they acted as if I'd done something evil. But after the baby, a darling girl, came, did they take over!

While she was still tiny, they moved us to that lonely farming community — and there she died of quick pneumonia. We moved back to town to be near my parents and friends.

Infuriated, the in-laws snatched everything they gave us — all but the car. We now live with my folks, who help us all they can. It's been a long, hard pull but my husband is making it. I worry about the rift between him and his parents. After all, he is their only child and I hate for them to be hurt, mean though they've been.

How can I mend the breach? He is 23, I am 21. Maybe if you print my letter, and your answer, it might help since they read your column. — Miserable Daughter-in-law

Dear Miserable: Some in-laws can be a pain in the neck. But for the sake of your marriage, take a hint from Dale Carnegie's "How To Win Friends and Influence People." Win over your husband's parents by getting their point of view. Credit them for caring what happens to you both. However mistaken their method. Take into consideration that the things they do and say might be a result of upbringing. Make concessions. If they still refuse to be won, it's time to lead your own lives, irrespective of them. But that doesn't mean living with your family — this would seem an effort to show the other side up. Find a home for yourselves, even if it's only a trailer.

Dear Helen I have been so deeply hurt! On a recent visit to my sister I missed money out of my purse. I know the exact amount because of cashing a check before going to her home. I suspect the teen daughter but hesitate to tell for fear the child will be severely punished. I haven't breathed a word to anyone — not even my husband because I always thought so much of my little niece. But, if she gets away with this she may find herself in worse trouble later on. I shall show her your answer. — Worried Auntie

Dear Worried: Stealing is a snide business and a petty thief beneath contempt. But saying so isn't going to reform your niece. The late S. Klein, founder of the serve-yourself-dress-shop on New York's Union Square, was plagued by teens' thievery to the tune of a couple hundred thousand dollars annually. Sending the girls to reform school helped nobody.

Klein, whose heart was as big as his store, had his detectives

Love Gets a Sharp Jolt

MEMPHIS (AP) — Love got a sharp jolt Monday when 22-year-old Jerry L. New of Trumann, Ark. was called to active duty in the Air Force.

New and his fiancée, Linda McClean, 19, of Jonesboro, had planned to spend their lunch hour getting the blood test required for a marriage license. Linda waited quite a while in Jonesboro, fretting and fuming and look for New to show up. Then she went back to work, "not knowing what to think."

When New finally got a chance to telephone her from Memphis, he had already had his blood test, having been routed to the base dispensary after telling his troubles to officers at the 45th Troop Carrier Wing. Linda said afterwards, "I'm going to go ahead and get my blood test and be ready if the Air Force will let us get married Friday. But all our plans will have to be changed."

Police Campaign

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There is nothing wrong with North Little Rock policemen campaigning for proposed constitutional Amendment 50, Chief of Police Ray Vick said Monday. Vick said Civil Service regulations prohibit officers from taking political action involving candidates for public offices. The Arkansas Municipal Police Association said, in urging its members several days ago to campaign for the amendment, that such action would not violate Civil Service rules.

Killed by Train

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — A Missouri Pacific Railroad freight train struck and killed Woodrow Hartless, 49, of Boydel in Ashley County Sunday night. Engineer D. D. Knight said the train was braked so hard in an attempt to avoid hitting Hartless that one boxcar derailed. The accident occurred between Boydel and Jerome.

bring the little thieves to his store so that he might talk to them individually. Once he determined why they stole he called in the parents, explained the seriousness of the offense, not as far as he was concerned, but because of the damage to their character. Then he put them on probation and kept in touch with the parents. Few ever became second offenders.

The trouble started with a fire in an electric motor at a coin laundry near the campus.

"The students got in our way and we had to push them back to get to the fire," fire chief C. R. Copas said. "We ordered them to disperse, then they started throwing rocks and firecrackers."

A fire truck was dented and a water gauge was broken. Two firemen were hit by rocks.

Firemen turned three small hoses on the students, who fled. Four students were jailed on charges of disorderly conduct.

Twenty-three Arkansas former governors died in the state; four died in Washington, and two were killed in battle.

Campaigning Steps Up in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., announced a new, home-spun twist to his campaign Monday, while Arkansas Republican leader Winthrop Rockefeller lapped at the handling of the Cuban situation.

Fulbright, opposed by Dr. Kennedy in Little Rock in the Nov. 6 general election, is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The spot announced from Little Rock is a one-hour, live, radio and television program, "The Road to Little Rock," will star in a series of live, one-hour television programs beginning today on stations in Little Rock, Fort Smith, Fayetteville, Memphis and Shreveport, La. and Memphis.

Rockefeller appeared with Warren Liebman before a Negro group and at a GOP rally in Pine Bluff. Liebman seeks the House seat now held by Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark.

Rockefeller said he thought President Kennedy should have dealt with the Cuban situation "when we were dealing with Castro and not with Khrushchev." He told the Negro audience it is "just amazing that Fulbright has made the statement that states having two-party politics are unfortunate."

Rockefeller said he has seen a poll where 28 per cent of those questioned said they favored two-party politics because they or friends had been intimidated. The GOP leader also hit at Gov. Orval Faubus, saying he thought Faubus regarded the governor's mansion as his permanent home. Liebman claimed that 17 per cent of the people in the 4th Congressional District had never heard of Harris. He told the Negro group that there was a great need for vocational training for members of their race.

Fulbright's move will revive memories of a program that has been off the air since 1954.

Larck, now a Houston, Tex., oil company executive, was a fraternal brother of the senator at the University of Arkansas.

In the campaign series Lauck dispenses some of the local humor that kept Lum and Abner on the radio for 23 years.

Scene of the programs is the mythical Jot'em Down Store in Pine Ridge, Ark., borrowed from the radio show—but Lauck talks of getting votes for Fulbright. Lauck is a native of Allene, Ark., where he became a banker and finance company executive before launching his radio career with Norris Goff, a boyhood friend, on a Hot Springs radio station in 1937.

The country store characters created by Lauck and Goff caught on and, encouraged by fan mail, the two went to Chicago with the act. A sponsor took it immediately.

The team made about 12 moves during the 1940s, some of which are still shown on late television shows.

Goff is now retired at Palm Beach, Calif. He and Lauck are pictured as Lum and Abner in the introduction to the Fulbright films, but Goff does not take part in the pictures.

The five different programs will be shown one-a-day, except Saturday and Sunday, through election eve.

Fog Covers Parts of Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fog covered much of Arkansas early today and cloudiness was expected to prevail throughout the state much of the day, the Weather Bureau in Little Rock said.

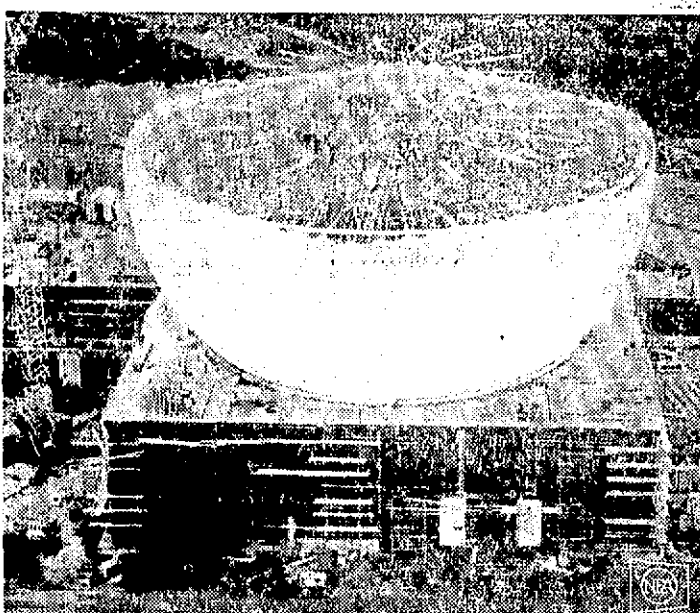

But the bureau added that Arkansas can look for sunshine and much improved drying conditions Wednesday.

A low pressure system over the state Tuesday was responsible for widespread cloudiness and rain with heaviest amounts in the north and east-central portions.

Harrison, Batesville, Marianna and Evening Shade all reported approximately half an inch of precipitation. Keiser reported 3.1 of an inch and Hot Springs, .16 of an inch.

The Weather Bureau said that an inactive cold front was expected to move into the state tonight. It said the front should result in little change in weather and that its main effect will be to drop temperatures, especially in the northern portion of the state. Low temperatures tonight were expected to be between 36 and 46. Highs Wednesday were expected to be between 56 and 68.

Queen Hears American Entertainers

LONDON (AP)—"We don't have titles in the United States," said Bob Hope Monday night, his eyes studiously avoiding the royal box at the Palladium.

A faint smile flickered over

Queen Elizabeth's face.

"No, sir," Hope continued, "in America we have just two classes—the people and the Kennedys."

The queen glanced at her husband, Prince Philip, and smiled. "And there are more Kennedys than people," Hope continued after the laughter subsided.

The queen threw back her head and laughed out loud.

The occasion was the annual Royal Variety Performance which raised $126,000 for the Variety Artists Benevolent Fund.

The queen appeared just as amused when Hope said: "President Kennedy's from Massachusetts, you know. He's going to split it in two parts—high Mass and low Mass."

Critic Fergus Cuskin commented in the daily sketch: "Why was the queen given the opportunity to throw back her head and laugh happily at jokes about the Kennedy family?"

"Is there some hope here for the future of satire in our theaters?" Jokes about the royal family are banned from the British stage. Recently the lord chamberlain, Britain's censor, banned satirical skits about the Kennedys from an American revue playing in London.

The evening was a sentimental triumph for 78-year-old Sophie Tucker, a longtime London favorite who starred in the first Royal Variety Performance in 1934 before Queen Elizabeth's grandparents, King George V and Queen Mary.

The audience gave her one of the loudest and longest ovations in the history of the annual vaudeville event. Tears streaked the veteran American entertainer's cheeks as she acknowledged the cheers and applause and blew a kiss to the royal box.

"I was thrilled," Queen Elizabeth told Miss Tucker afterward. "You were wonderful."

Metropolitan Little Rock has about 250 churches with most faiths and denominations being represented.

Mediators Move Into Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators, on their own initiative, have moved formally into negotiations in the disputes in the newspaper industry here.

Wednesday midnight is the deadline for a threatened strike by news and commercial employees on any or all of seven daily papers.

Frank H. Brown, regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said Monday his office had entered the disputes first at the Daily News, the World Telegram & Sun, and the Post.

Each newspaper has its own contract.

Brown said the mediators acted on their own motion because of the receipt of information that negotiations between the newspapers and the New York Newspaper Guild were deadlocked.

Mediators were assigned to sit in on joint meetings today for the first time.

The mediators were considering entering the disputes involving the guild and the Times, Herald Tribune, Mirror and Journal-American.

The guild is a unit of the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild.

The Guild has been seeking a 10 per cent general increase, a $200 top minimum weekly wage in the highest category for experienced employees; and a $100 top minimum in the lowest salary category; a reduction in working hours from the present 35 to 30 a week; and retention of guild jurisdiction despite job changes by automation or otherwise.

The top minimum salaries in the highest category now vary from $164 to $168 in the contracts on different newspapers. Many employees receive more than the minimums.

The Publishers' Association of New York City made no comment on the situation Monday. In a weekend statement, it had expressed hope that the threatened strike might be averted, or that at least other employees would continue to work in the event of a strike so that the newspapers could continue publishing.

Members of the Guild and nine craft unions that have contracts with the publishers, at a rally Oct. 14, approved a "policy of unity of action to force the publishers association to ease their dictating of contracts."

Contracts of the craft unions expire at later dates.

Businessmen Hit Back at Statement

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Florida civic leaders struck back today at what they called "irresponsible statement" made recently by four officials of the National Association of Better Business Bureaus.

Harold Cole, executive vice president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, protested remarks attributed to Kenneth Barnard, president of the Chicago Better Business Bureau, and three others.

They told a regional conference of the association at Kansas City, Mo., last week that the greatest land scandal in U.S. history is developing in the southwestern United States and Florida.

Barnard and bureau officials from Rye, N.Y.; Des Moines, Iowa, and Kansas City said Florida land promotions of the 1920s were insignificant compared to what is happening now.

They said remote submarginal land is being sold to persons with small incomes who buy without seeing the land, usually on the installment plan.

"Your statement is reported gives an unfair impression and reflects a blanket indictment of Florida real estate developers and home builders with outstanding reputations for honesty and integrity," Cole said in a telegram to Barnard.

"If you have specific facts or particulars concerning any land scandal which appears to be developing in Florida, I urge you to forward this information to me immediately."

Fred O. Dickinson Jr. of West Palm Beach, chairman of the Florida Committee of 100, called the statements at Kansas City "irresponsible shotgun blasts at Florida land developers and home builders attributed to persons some of whom have never even visited our state."

Mother of Famed Aviatix Dies

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Amy Ois Earhart, 95, mother of aviatrix Amelia Earhart, died Monday in a nursing home.

Her daughter vanished with navigator Fred Noonan near Howland Island in the South Pacific during an around-the-world flight in 1937.

Muriel Morrissey, a daughter with whom Mrs. Earhart made her home in recent years, said her mother did not give up hope for the aviatrix until 1946.

FASHION'S SPOTLIGHT ON BOWLING . . . Millions of Americans "Look Their Best to Bowl Their Best"

America's a bowling crazy country today. Ranking as the nation's second most popular participant sport — bowling is first — bowling has captured the enthusiasm of more than 32 million Americans who annually crowd the nation's 13,000 bowling alleys.

Whether one is playing Tenpins, Candlepins, Duckpins or any other variant of the game, bowling has interestingly fostered a growing interest in proper playing attire. The reason is not hard to find.

Every bowler feels himself the center of attention. He—or she—wants to be well dressed and comfortable when shooting for that elusive strike or spare.

"Look your best to bowl your best" has become the battle cry of legions on bowling lanes everywhere.

For instance, bowling shirts today are built for both comfort and style. This is made possible by accurate sizing, precision tailoring and sewing the finest materials to rigid standards (as in the King Louie line of bowling apparel). And most important, lasting shape control—particularly in the collar area—is made possible by the miracle non-woven Pellon fabric in every King Louie bowling shirt. Playing together—even dressed in matching slacks and blouses—men, women and youngsters are gracefully moving the 10 to 16-pound sphere down bowling's high road to fashion.

Highway Jobs to Total $11 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Highway Commission will open bids Nov. 20 on 15 road and bridge construction projects in 14 counties.

The Highway Department began advertisements on the estimated $11 million worth of jobs Monday.

Interstate projects in the bid offering include those in Pulaski, St. Francis, Crittenden, Sebastian and Pope counties.

A Sebastian County project calls for grade work and paving of 3.75 miles of Route 540, the Fort Smith spur of Interstate 40. The work will begin at the junction with Highway 22 and extend to the Arkansas River.

On Interstate 40 in Pope County, bids call for grade work and frontage road surfacing on a 10.212 mile strip beginning 1.2 miles east of the Russellville city limits and extending westward.

In St. Francis County the contract is to be for 3.859 miles of road base preparation and surfacing of frontage roads on Interstate 40, from near Madison southward.

Other jobs, by counties: Crittenden: Placing signs on 9.20 miles of Interstate 40 eastward from two miles west of the Lehi interchange.

Crittenden: Surfacing 1.521 miles of Highway 70 in West Memphis, eastward from 14th Street.

Dirksen in Third Term Campaign

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of stories highlighting election campaigns by key states.

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen shuttled between Illinois and Washington during his campaign for a third term—and found himself in the limelight at both ends of the line.

His position in the beam of public attention points up one advantage Dirksen holds over the "Democrat" who is striving to unseat him, Rep. Sidney R. Yates.

Dirksen is much better known. But while Dirksen's role as Republican leader of the U.S. Senate held him in the capital most of the autumn, Yates spent considerable time introducing himself downstate and renewing acquaintances in his native Chicago.

Yates got what he most wanted Oct. 19. President Kennedy flew to Springfield and Chicago and asked Illinoisans to elect Yates.

But 60 hours after Kennedy finished his campaign speech in Chicago's McCormick Place, Dirksen was at O'Hare Field, waiting for an Air Force plane to whisk him back to Washington. The President wanted to confer with him and other congressional leaders about the Cuban crisis.

As the campaign moved into its last lap, the consensus of a half dozen political writers in Chicago and Springfield was that Dirksen would defeat Yates by a margin that varied in the estimates from close to comfortable.

The choice before the voters involves wide contrast.

Dirksen 66, put in 16 years in the House before he won his first Senate term by 294,394 votes and his second by 357,49. He has sided with President Kennedy on some issues, notably the $109-million fund for loans to the United Nations, but he has opposed him on much domestic legislation.

Yates, 53, a lively, energetic lawyer who is serving his seventh term in Congress from Chicago's 9th District, has backed the New Frontier program on 37 per cent of his House votes. He believes many voters especially like his stand for medical care for the aged tied to Social Security.

Illinois Republicans have been aiming some of their campaign pitches at citizens' pocketbooks. Their billboards bear such messages as: "Put the lid on taxes." Their platform pledged winners of administrative offices to cut payrolls 10 per cent.

The hold-the-line promises may stem from the April primary when Chicago voters rejected six bond issues involving 6 million for public improvements that had been proposed by Mayor Richard J. Daley.

In addition to U.S. senator, Illinoisans will elect a state treasurer and a superintendent of public instruction—posts now held by Democrats—and a clerk of the Supreme Court, a job now in Republican hands.

They also will fill 24 seats in Congress, a net loss of one via reapportionment. There were 25 seats at stake in 1960. The Democrats took 14, the Republicans 11.

Ballistics Test Asked in Shooting

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—A Union County coroner's jury decided Monday to wait on a Federal Bureau of Investigation ballistics report before reaching a verdict in the death Sunday of Tommy Lees, 26, of El Dorado.

Lees was found shot to death in the front yard of a neighbor's home. He lived with his mother.

Dr. J. H. Pinson Jr. conducted the two-hour inquest. He said the jury will be empaneled later when the FBI report is complete.

Clay: Surfacing .541 mile of Highway 90 and construction of bridges over Ditch 10, Ditch 11 and Mayo Ditch.

Poinsett and Mississippi: Surfacing 2.357 miles of Highway 136 from southeast of Riverdale to junction with Highway 140.

Backdown in Cuba Only Temporary

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev's backdown on Cuba gives President Kennedy a victory, but any appearance of peace is illusory and temporary, for Cuba hardly change course on that.

Nevertheless, some of the Soviet and Cuban actions in this crisis look stupid if not nutty. The big-geared transference of the missiles to Cuba is a move that the United States won't be in danger of missile bases in Cuba in the first place.

He took the shock out of the crisis by pulling his missiles out. But that doesn't solve the problem of Fidel Castro.

As if to prove peace is a dream, this happened: Just a few hours after Khrushchev said he'd back down, from Venezuela The Associated Press reported saboteurs, believed to be Castro followers, blew up enough power stations to knock out a sixth of the country's oil production.

A Havana radio signal instructed Venezuelans to take action against the oil fields. There was heard by U.S. and Venezuelan government sources. Radio Havana was reported calling openly for an insurrection in Honduras.

This, coming on the heels of Khrushchev's protest against any interference with the Cuban people, makes no sense unless it can be interpreted as Castro's way of showing that, even without Soviet missiles, he intends to be America.

From Miami The Associated Press reported Cuban exile leaders shrugged at Khrushchev's decision to withdraw the missiles and proceeded with their anti-Castro business.

Revolutionary Council President Jose Miro Cardona said "The missiles in Cuba on impulse, council is continuing its struggle for overthrow of the Communist dictatorship."

Khrushchev, if only to avoid the demoralizing effect on other Latin-American Communists that abandoning Castro would mean will have to keep him in business with arms and supplies, if not missiles.

And the United States, which has kept alive the hope of Cuban refugees that they someday will be able to throw Castro out, can hardly change course on that.

Sooner or later, therefore, Castro should be involved actively or passively in new explosions, and all the withdrawal of the missiles may mean is that the United States won't be in danger of missile bases in Cuba in the first place.

It's possible that Castro — sold down the river by Khrushchev on the missiles, at least, to avoid war with the United States—may be lured by his own followers in Cuba. That looks like a long shot now.

Meanwhile, the Russians, who were expected to create a crisis over Berlin before year's end, are still in a position to do that.

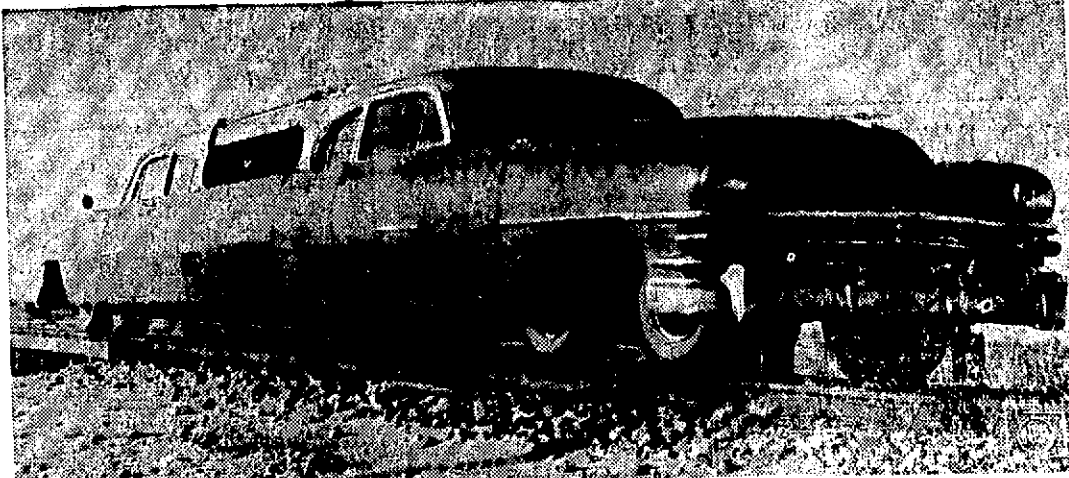

Khrushchev so far as is known put no price tag on his agreement to take his missiles back home. That doesn't mean he won't spring one later. For instance, by again demanding that the United States remove its missiles from Turkey.

Kennedy wouldn't buy that one when Khrushchev proposed it Saturday as a swap for his taking his missiles out of Cuba. Then Khrushchev dropped the demand.

But the United States, in the eyes of the non-Aligned world, can hardly claim more justification for having missiles in Turkey, right next to the Soviet Union, than Khrushchev could for putting missiles in Cuba, 90 miles from America.

Since he withdrew his, to avoid a war, he may get a lot of non-Aligned support around the world that the United States return the compliment in Turkey.

It's hard to think Khrushchev put missiles in Cuba on impulse,

THE BLUE GOOSE EXPRESS—Two-thirds automobile and one-third locomotive, a unique vehicle transports personnel between U.S. Gypsum Co.'s plant and quarry at Plaster City, Calif. Dubbed the Blue Goose, the 34-foot-long, 6,000-pound rail car rides along at 40 m.p.h. on eight steel-cord tires with flanges attached to the inner hubs. It's powered by a 160-h.p. engine positioned between two 1953 Chrysler bodies and features automatic emergency brakes, insulation, air-conditioning and two-way radios. No need to turn the Blue Goose around after its 26-mile run, for each cab has separate controls.

assuming the United States would a reckless gamble. But looked at from any angle not detect them and that they later could be used to blackmail and blackjack this country in any showdown Khrushchev started.

In the first place, this would have had to be a high-policy decision in the Kremlin since it so deeply involved Soviet foreign policy. Second, the Russians know this country keeps Cuba under constant observation and would therefore discover the missiles.

It's possible Khrushchev thought industrial electric power consumption in Cuba would second three months of last year not have the nerve to force a increased 5.4 percent compared showdown. This would have been to the period a year ago.

Many State Aid Projects Processed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Applications from 14 Arkansas cities seeking a total of $1,383,371 in federal aid for water and sewer projects have been processed by the state Water Pollution Control Commission.

Marvin L. Wood, director of the commission, said Monday that the applications were processed at a meeting last Friday.

The figure, he said, included applications for $555,388 under the Federal Public Works Acceleration Act and $833,000 under the federal Water Pollution Act.

Cost of the water and sewer projects, he said, was on a percentage basis with 30 per cent coming under the water act and 20 under the acceleration act.

Arkansas ranked ninth in the number of water pollution control projects and 22nd in the amount of money spent on these projects, Wood said.

Funds under the Public Works Acceleration Act would come from the $4.5 million allocated by Con-

CAN YOU REMEMBER THIS?

ADEQUATE SCHOOLS mean a BETTER ARKANSAS

The one additional cent on the dollar provided by the three per cent sales tax has meant new hope for education in Arkansas! The extra penny has brought badly-needed teacher salary increases, new facilities and enriched programs of training for all our children. Unless Referred Act 19 passes, most of this progress in the field of education would have to be scrapped. And without better schools, the future of our children is in danger!

THESE AGENCIES TOO, DEPEND ON THAT EXTRA PENNY!

VOTE FOR REFERRED ACT NO. 19

FOR THE EXISTING THREE PER CENT SALES TAX

Pol. Ad. paid for by Interested Parents of Hempstead County by Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Royston, Jr.

(Taken from files of Hope Star, Thursday, October 30, 1958)

Do you remember back in 1958 when we voted on the 3% Sales Tax? This Tax was approved by a majority vote in the General Assembly of 1957 and the people endorsed it by the vote in the General Election of 1958. This endorsement vote suited the Legislators and other members of the State Government fine. That meant more TAXES.

The 1% increase was to represent the 62% of its' increase in revenue to be allocated to Public Schools. It was contended that the Legislators were to keep in good faith with the people who helped to support the increase. In 1961, the Public Schools received only 53.3% of this increase.

The Legislators didn't keep in good faith with you and me. The following things took place:

1. Taxes levied for school purposes have been diverted to other uses. The members of State Government bodies DID NOT want you to know anything about this.
2. Public Schools are not receiving as great a share of tax funds as you and I have been led to believe and what they are receiving DOES NOT constitute an equitable share. The Public Schools received only 48.4% of the total allocations in "General Revenues" as of 1961-62. That is one of the reasons why I AM IN FAVOR OF THE INITIATED ACT NO. 1.
3. Financial support for Public Schools in our State of Arkansas is not keeping pace with other states. We are falling behind rapidly.
4. The following are affected:
 - a. The taxpayer, including you and me;
 - b. The school teachers, principals and superintendents;
 - c. The school children, were all short changed in the allocation of taxes after being used to make the levying of taxes acceptable.
5. Several schools in our county are in very poor financial condition, including Hope School System.
6. The following are responsible for this thing:
 - a. 88 out of 100 State Representatives;
 - b. 25 out of 35 State Senators voted at least 80% in favor of diverting the funds intended for Public Schools for other purposes in the 1961 General Assembly.
- References: Voting Record of 1961 General Assembly, Arkansas Education Association, 1500 East 4th Street, Little Rock, Ark.
- c. It is very regretful that our State Representatives and State Senators voted every time for diversions of funds intended for public schools into other purposes.
7. Did You Know that a large number of Legislators went heavy for extra pay, above and over the constitutional limit? Did you know about the "Pork Barrel" policy that went in favor of a number of legislators? A few of the Legislators wanted no part of the Pork Barrel policy and others took advantage of this!!!

Arkansans Back From Guantanamo

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Two Arkansas families evacuated from the United States' Guantanamo Base in Cuba arrived in Hot Springs Monday.

Mrs. Jerry Long and her three children arrived by train and Mrs. Carlton Merritt and a son arrived by bus.

Their husbands remained at the base.

Mrs. Merritt said tension began building up at the base Oct. 21, a day before President Kennedy's history-making announcement of a U.S. Naval blockade of the island.

"I could have learned about this sooner, but I didn't want to hear," she said.

Mrs. Long and her husband, an engineer, arrived with a tugboat, and did not have time to prepare for a week's trip. Both of them arrived at Norfolk, Va., with several hundred other evacuees, and then made their way to Hot Springs.

Mrs. Merritt brought with her Robert Michael, 5.

Mrs. Long brought twins Beverly and Barbara, 8, and Ronald, 6.

THE ARTLESS HEIRESS

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY Columbine declines an offer to buy her motel. Instead she plans a cocktail party for her guests.

XIII

Columbine examined the new gowns she had purchased. She removed each from its hanger and carried it to the light, delighting in its texture and in its color and in its richness. As she replaced the last garment she saw a small, folded piece of paper on the floor, and picked it up to throw it in the wastebasket. It was a clipping from a newspaper, an account of a robbery in New York City which had been perpetrated in a Park Avenue apartment house. The estimated value of the jewels taken was $40,000. It was the police declared, a bit of high-class professional work. The thief had left no clues by which he could be identified. Columbine reread the clipping to be certain her retentive memory missed no item of it, and then tore it into bits and flushed it down the toilet.

For the first time since her arrival she went down to the dining room for her evening meal. She sat diffidently aware that curious eyes were availing themselves of this first opportunity to study the new owner of the hotel, about whom, naturally, there had been speculation and gossip.

She had almost reached her dessert when she was aware that someone had approached her table. She looked up into the mild, onion-eyed face of the chubby cleric who had dined at the same table on her journey westward. He smiled cherubically. "It is Miss Druggett, of course," he said beamingly. "We were table companions on the train."

"You recognize me?" she asked, surprised.

"My eyes are keen," he said, without seeking an invitation, he seated himself in the chair opposite her. "Little did I expect to see you again, my sister, in Arizona, where my mission lies. Or emerged from your drab wrappings to dazzle all beholders."

She eyed the round man in clementine. He did not like him. "Why," she demanded, "did you and Professor Thumb pretend to be strangers on the train?"

"For East is East and West is West," he replied, without being the least disconcerted, "and never we twain did meet."

"Girl children," she said crisply, "make use of many quaint but telling phrases. Here is one I recall, Mr. Martinus: 'You are as phony as a counterfeit buck.'"

"Such expressions," he said, his big, pale eyes showing nothing but hurt and patient endurance, "form no firm foundation for a lasting friendship."

"Why," she asked, "did you come here tonight?"

"To eat of your excellent food," he replied promptly.

"Your friend, Professor Thumb, tried to find accommodations here. He shook his head chidingly. 'Why, my sister, do you display this attitude of unfriendliness toward me?'"

"Call it instinctive," she said. He shook his round head. "No," he replied. "Not instinct, but an animus. Now what possible evidence can exist that would cause your present attitude? What alliance could exist between me and this sorcerer, Thumb? Between me, a man of simple faith, and him, a creature learned in black magic and necromancy, who openly boasts that he is a frequenter of witches' Sabbaths?"

"If you were complete strangers," she asked, "how would you know these silly things?"

ALC Hearing Requests for Agencies

State Commerce Commission: seeks $15,400 for each of two years. Governor concurred. Of previous appropriation of $137,400, spent $177,811.

Liquefied Petroleum Gas Board: seeks $104,234 for 1963-64 and $103,560 for 1964-65. Governor recommended $97,200 for each of two years. Spent $85,270 of previous appropriation of $105,800.

Gas Delivery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Temporary authority for two interstate pipeline companies to deliver an additional 274 million cubic feet of gas daily to existing customers was granted Monday by the Power Commission. The firms are Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston, and Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., Shreveport, La. The authority would be for delivery primarily to customers in the northeastern states but would include Arkansas.

Bobcats Host Louisiana Team Friday

By B.K.L. C. SIMMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

This week's work in Class AA will be a grooming for crucial decisions Nov. 7.

The mightiest teams in the ranks—Rogers, Jonesboro, Helena and Conway—don't face easy opposition, but the games aren't expected to turn out any surprises either.

Helena plays West Memphis and Jonesboro plays Forrest City in the Region 2AA headliners. Both Helena and Jonesboro are unbeaten and, virtually, untested.

Conway, which has succumbed only to a Big Nine Conference team, takes on Harrison of Region 1AA. Conway, the Region 3AA leader, meets Benton Nov. 7 in one of the bitterest rivalries in the region.

Rogers takes on Region 1AA foe Van Buren, and elsewhere around the league this will be happening:

Fayetteville, which was brutally battered by one Springfield, Mo., team last week, tries another — Hillcrest; Harrison will play Conway and Springdale will be at Subiaco.

While Jonesboro and Helena are polishing up for their Nov. 7 get-together, the other Region 2AA teams will be stepping outside the league.

Newport plays Searcy, Paragould plays Piggott, Stuttgart tries Marianna and Wynne takes on McCrory. The last team in each case is not a Region 2AA team. Camden Fairview, the Region 4AA leader, and two other region teams take on Big Nine foes this week.

The Cardinals play Little Rock Hall, the second-place Big Nine team; Crossett plays Pine Bluff the Big Nine leader; and Smackover tackles Texarkana, the last-place Big Nine outfit.

Hope entertains Loganport, La., and Magnolia plays Nashville in other games involving Region 4AA teams.

Malvern, also of Region 4AA, will play Benton of Region 3AA. Searcy, of 3AA, will be at Newport, and Conway will play Harri-

Congressmen to Be on Panel

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three Arkansas congressmen will participate in a discussion on "Key Legislation Affecting Your Business" when the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Arkansas hold their 34th annual meeting Nov. 7 in Little Rock.

On the panel will be Reps. Wilbur Mills, E. C. Gathings and Orin Harris. The discussions will be held Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Objectives and activities of the Virginia Commission on Constitutional Government will be described at a banquet session Tuesday night by Gov. Albert S. Harris of Virginia.

Other speakers will be Robert L. Humphrey, director of public affairs for the National Association of Manufacturers; Carter L. Burgess, chairman of the board of directors of the American Machine & Foundry Co., of New York, and G. Maynard Smith, an Atlanta, Ga., attorney.

Malvern Gets Funds

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — An application for federal funds to pay half the cost of a proposed $2.5 million street-paving program under the distressed area relief program has been completed by the city of Malvern. The Little Rock office of the Labor Department has recommended the city be declared a disaster area because it has an unemployment rate of 6.8 per cent. Matching funds for the project would be raised through an improvement district bond issue.

Other Region 3AA games have Mabelvale at Morrilton, Sylvan Hills at Bauxite, Joe T. Robinson at Jacksonville, and Little Rock Catholic at Russellville.

Moore Loses as Leading Yard Gainer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Don Trull Baylor's passer, has replaced Billy Moore of Arkansas as the No. 1 yardage gainer in the Southwest Conference.

Moore still is the most accurate ball-carrying leader while teammate Jesse Branch is in second place.

Trull took over as total offense leader when he ran his rushing-passing to 825 yards on 11 plays. The Baylor flash also increased his lead in passing as he completed 14 of 2 for 158 yards in the losing effort against Texas A&M. The Aggies won 3-0.

Trull has completed 2 passes out of 114 attempts for 778 yards for the season.

Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian, whom Trull meets this week in one of the long anticipated duels of the campaign, is second in passing with 41 connections in 80 throws for 482 yards. Each has five touchdowns passes.

Moore ran for 53 yards on six carries against Hardin — Simmons and that brought his ball-carrying total to 370 on 75 runs. That's 87 yards more than Branch, who picked up only 28.

More still is the most accurate passer in the league although he ranks third otherwise. He has attempted 51 passes and completed 3 for 70. More also is in second place in total offense with 787 yards on 12 plays.

Johnson Ruled Legal Nominee

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Chancery Judge Paul X. Williams ruled Monday Floyd Johnson of Russellville is the legal Democratic nominee for Pope County tax assessor.

Williams said the unofficial total in the Aug. 31 primary had Stanford Lee winning by nine votes. A recount showed Johnson defeated Lee by 35 votes, 2771 to 2,736.

Williams said he found no evidence of fraud in his investigation.

Changes Meet Site

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The 33-state Interstate Oil Compact commission has changed the site of its 1962 meeting from Miami Beach, Fla. to Dallas. The meeting dates were changed from Dec. 10-11-12 in Florida to Dec. 3-4-5 in Dallas. Lawrence Alley, executive secretary, said the change was caused by restrictions on flights of private airplanes into the Miami Beach area. The oil industry uses private planes extensively. Alley said the government had not requested a transfer of the meeting.

Northwestern Takes First, Perks Eighth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northwestern's Wildcats, current favorites to win the Big Ten championship, went into first place today in the national college football rankings.

Northwestern crushed Notre Dame 35-6 Saturday for its fifth straight victory and climbed past Alabama and Southern California in the weekly poll by The Associated Press.

The Wildcats' prime objective is a Big Ten title—they haven't won in 26 years. Northwestern, however, must get by Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan State on successive Saturdays to reach the goal.

Texas, the top team the last two weeks, dropped to fifth after being tied by Rice, 14-11. Alabama, the defending national champion, held second place following a 35-6 triumph over Tulsa.

The special panel of sports-writers and broadcasters gave Northwestern 34 of the 52 first-place votes cast.

The top ten teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, points on a 10-9-8, etc., bases.

Porkers Hold Onto Lead Statistically

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas easily held onto the lead in both offense and defense in the Southwest Conference Saturday, grinding out 324 yards rushing in trouncing Hardin-Simmons 49-0.

The Porkers held the Cowboys to only 258 yards total offense.

Arkansas, with its average of 389.3 yards per game, now leads runner-up Baylor by almost 100 yards.

In allowing its opposition 224.3 yards per outing Arkansas has outdone Texas, which has given up 124 more yards per game.

In the majority of conference games Saturday, though, statistical superiority meant nothing.

Rice, with 319 yards total offense to 278 for Texas, managed only a 14-11 tie. Baylor outgained Texas A&M 249 to 179 but dropped the game 6-3. Texas Tech gained 210 yards to 199 for Southern Methodist but fell to SMU 14-0.

Arkansas reached the scoring peak of the season in the Hardin-Simmons game. For the fourth time in six weeks the Hogs led the league in total offense.

Sophomore Danny Thomas, averaging 44.7 yards on six kicks against Texas Tech, led SMU to its second straight conference victory. Southern Methodist moved ahead of Texas in punting for the season—41.1 to 40.8 yards.

Hogs Looking at Defense Problems

FAYETTEVILLE (AP) — The University of Arkansas, with a fresh outlook toward the Southwest Conference title, took a long look at defensive problems Monday.

The Porkers meet Texas A&M at College Station, Tex. Saturday. Coach Frank Broyles took the Razorbacks into Barnhill Field House to avoid a cold drizzle outside that matched his mood inside.

After the Hogs' one-hour workout in sweat clothes, Broyles commented his head defensive coach, Jim MacKenzie, "hasn't had much sleep since last Tuesday when he first saw A&M on film."

Lon Farrell, freshman aide, will deliver the scouting report on A&M today. The team watched the Texas Christian University-A&M game films before practice.

Broyles is looking for end Jim John, who ruptured a blood vessel in his nose during practice early in the season, to re-join the squad for the A&M game. Broyles has termed John the "finest end I have ever coached."

Teachers Plan Annual Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Association's annual convention is expected to bring 8,000 teachers to Little Rock Thursday and Friday—just days before two AEA-backed proposals come to a vote in the general election.

Joshua K. Shepherd, chairman of the Arkansas Committee for Public Schools, will discuss Initiative Act 1 and proposed constitutional Amendment 53 in a general session Thursday.

The act would give public schools 50 per cent of state general revenues. Amendment 53 would allocate more money to make the teacher retirement system actuarially sound.

The Arkansas Association of Educational Secretaries will meet in conjunction with the AEA convention.

Didn't File Pledge

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — The St. Francis County Election Commission voted Monday to remove the name of O. W. Pipkin as a Republican candidate for county judge of the Nov. 6 general election. The action came after Atty. Gen. Frank Holt ruled Pipkin's name could not appear on the ballot if the candidate had not filed a corrupt practices pledge. The commission sought the ruling after incumbent Judge M. D. Clark protested no pledge had been filed.
